

STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK AT NEW PALTZ
ASSISTANT PROFESSOR - HUMAN GEOGRAPHY

Duties: We seek a broadly-trained geographer committed to excellence in undergraduate education. The successful candidate will teach upper-division undergraduate courses in Latin America, Africa and/or Asia as well as systematic courses in their area of expertise, and lower-division courses in world and human geography. Standard teaching load is for an average of 20 credits per academic year (three or four 3-credit courses per semester).

Qualifications: A Ph.D. in Geography or a closely related field is required. Exceptional ABD candidates with a firm completion date may be considered.

Contact Information: Electronic submissions required. Please submit a letter of application to Chair, Geography Search Committee; curriculum vitae; teaching evaluations and other evidence of teaching effectiveness, and names and contact information for three references to:

geographyhuman@newpaltz.edu.

Please include the search number F13-32 on all materials submitted. Official transcripts will be required of successful applicant.

Deadline: Applications accepted until position is filled; priority given to applications received by 11/15/13.

Please check our official announcement online at <http://www.newpaltz.edu/hr/displayjobdetails.php?id=1448>

Other important information about this vacancy: Candidates who bring diverse cultural experience and who are especially qualified to mentor and advise all members of our diverse student population are especially encouraged to apply.

The State University of New York at New Paltz is a highly selective, public college that is recognized regionally for the strength of its academic programs. It is located in the beautiful Hudson River Valley with easy access to New York City and other nearby recreational and cultural amenities.

The State University of New York at New Paltz is an AA/EOE/ADA employer

Federal law and regulations require notice to all prospective employees regarding crimes that have occurred on campus in the current three year period. Please refer to the University Police Web site for the complete Annual Security Report ("Clery Report") at www.newpaltz.edu/police/securityact.html.

UC – SANTA BARBARA – POPULATION GEOGRAPHER

We are searching for a Population Geographer in the Department of Geography at UCSB. The job ad is pasted below. Please note that we are not seeking specific theoretical or methodological backgrounds. We are searching for candidates who have the potential for great success in pushing the frontiers of science relating to population, health, and development broadly construed as they relate to Earth as the home to humanity. Candidates from any discipline, who complement existing strengths in our department in human-environment dynamic, spatial science, and physical geography are very welcome to apply. We recently launched the campus-wide Broom Center for Demography and hope that this is attractive to potential candidates. The job description is deliberately broad in order to capture the most talented, compelling candidates. We anticipate the possibility that interested candidates could fit the description in ways we can't yet envision.

I strongly encourage potential candidates on this listserv to consider applying. Again, we are interpreting the position broadly with the hope that we attract candidates with diverse and novel approaches. I am on the search committee and am happy to field questions from prospective candidates (see job posting below).

Regards,
David

David López-Carr Director, Latin American and Iberian Studies Professor, Department of Geography Human-Environment Dynamics Lab 4836 Ellison Hall UC Santa Barbara (UCSB) Santa Barbara, CA 93106-4060 805-456-2830 <http://www.geog.ucsb.edu/~carr/>